

PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY

SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1965

This Town . . . That World

Now, if those other Reds will only have the luck the Cincinnati boys have run into, things will begin to look up, and the Podunk Puddle-Jumpers can win the World Series for all I care. (Note: Now that I have made that statement, don't bet against Cincy.)

AND THAT'S HOW IT WAS (MAYBE)

I have finally succumbed to a temptation of long standing. I propose to explain, a la Allan M. Trout, the origin of a certain expression.

It began with an idle query from Jimmy Goble, who wondered if Trout could explain the origin of the expression, "Drunk as a b'iled owl." I had thought to write Trout about this weighty matter, but now have finally decided to have at it myself, and this is my version of the matter till a better comes along:

Years ago, this fellow had set himself up in business, the business being a moonshine still. He kept a generous supply of the finished product on hand while the next batch was brewing, and so was never lonely as his friends rallied around, of nights, looking for a few free drinks.

One night, while the mash was boiling, the whole passel of them indulged a little too much. Among them was an owl-looking, old gent on whose nose, the drunker he got, the lower his spectacles slipped.

Suddenly there was a swoosh through the treetops, and an owl shook the gang from their torpor as it made a three-point landing in the boiling pot. The owner of the outfit was more concerned about the incident than somewhat, yelled for help as he searched in vain for fork, ladle, anything with which to fish out the visitor.

Finally, he succeeded in extricating the owl from the pot, then in drunken mood attempted to

COUNTY FAIR SEEN IN '66

Site Problem Solved As City Park Board Here Offers Area

Floyd county will have a county fair next year, it was announced following a meeting at the courthouse Monday evening of the Fair Board.

No fair was held this year for want of fairgrounds, but this problem was solved when the Prestonsburg Park Board recently set aside an area at the new city park here for the fair. Date of the 1966 event has not been fixed but will be announced when arrangements for the amusement phase of the fair have been made and all committees have been named.

G. S. Martin, of Langley, was elected president of the Fair Board for 1965-'66. Other officers are J. L. Lafferty, Sr., of Cliff, vice-president; Ann Lee Garrett, Prestonsburg, secretary; Burl Spurlock, Prestonsburg, treasurer. Burl Wells Spurlock was named legal adviser.

Nineteen persons attended Monday's meeting, and the interest shown indicates resumption of the annual county fair on a sound basis, it was said.

SPEEDY TRIAL PLEA FOR MAY GRANTED

2nd HEARING SLATED HERE IN NOVEMBER

Stumbo Says He Will Qualify Trial Jury For Death Penalty

Motion of Joe P. Tackett, counsel for Headmon May, for a speedy trial of the second murder charge against May was granted Wednesday by Circuit Judge Hollie Conley, and the case was set for trial at the November court term.

Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo immediately announced that the jury for the trial of May for the slaying of his father-in-law, A. B. Hobson, at Harold, will be asked to vote the death penalty. May is serving a life sentence imposed on him at an earlier court session for the slaying of Mrs. Hobson. He also is under indictment for shooting and wounding his wife, Ruth, daughter of the Hobsons.

Stumbo said he is aware of the fact that the trial, with a jury qualified to vote capital punishment, will be costly but added that he cannot in good conscience do otherwise. He pointed out that, under present law, a life term means the possibility of parole within six years and that he does not consider such a term adequate.

Commonwealth and defense counsel had earlier agreed on a continuance of the case against May till the April term. Between that term and the present date the General Assembly may take action on elimination of the death penalty. But, if that is done, may legislators say, a full life term will be provided in lieu of the electric chair.

Trial of Mrs. Virgie Short, of Abbott Creek, who is charged with the slaying of her ex-husband, Zean Warrick, is scheduled to begin here today (Thursday).

The jury in the trial of Catherine Martin, charged with false swearing at the trial here of Deputy Sheriffs Troy Mullins and Marion Martin in the slaying of Ex-Magistrate John May, ended last Friday in a "hung" jury. The hearing was brief. The defendant, mother of four, admitted she testified falsely but that she was under duress and in fear when

METER THEFT HAUL PLACED AT $6,000

Water meters valued at $6,000 to $7,000 have been stolen from a warehouse of the Beaver Elkhorn Water District at Wayland, it was discovered last Thursday in a check of materials and equipment on hand.

State Police Detective Chester D. Potter said water system officials could not place the date of the theft because they had not visited the warehouse in about three weeks till last Thursday. A door had been broken open and wire screening torn away from a window.

Clues are missing, Potter said. Between 100 and 150 meters are missing—some new, a part of them used. Their average value has been placed at $45 each. Potter said a junk dealer inspected a meter similar to those taken and that he estimated that the stolen meters, sold for junk, would bring between $1,000 and $1,300.

The state detective said there are no new developments in the investigation of the recent looting of the Prestonsburg Community College. The State Police laboratory has not filed a report on fingerprints found at the college. Booked at the jail here within the week: Lawrence Thompson, operating a motor vehicle while under the

BURCHETT REFUSES TO SIGN NEW ELECTION OFFICER LIST

Two members of the Floyd County Election Commission picked Monday the persons who will serve as election officers in the county's 41 precincts at the November voting, but the third commissioner refused to sign the list.

The list of officers, signed by Sheriff Henry C. Hale, ex-officio Commission member, and William Darby, Republican, was lodged Tuesday with County Clerk C. Ollie Robinson. It lacked the signature of Glenn Burchett, Democratic member. The matter may be the subject of legal action, it was indicated Tuesday. Mr. Burchett, who is trial commissioner in the County Judge's office, said he refused to sign the list of officers, as selected by the other two commissioners, "because I didn't think it was right."

MUSIC WINS OK ON LAND

Zoning Commission Action Removes Bar To Tract Development

Frank Music, who was prevented two years ago by action of the Prestonsburg Planning and Zoning Commission from developing 25 acres of land on Stratton Branch, near Dewey Lake, last Wednesday night won the commission's approval.

Mr. Music met all requirements of the commission and the Floyd County Health Department. He has 43 lots laid out on a tract of approximately 25 acres, and no lot has a street frontage of less than 75 feet. Minimum individual sewage disposal of 9,000 square feet area also has been provided. No street will be less than 36 feet in width.

Music's first difficulty with the commission developed after he had advertised sale of lots at public auction. It was on the frontage of lots and street provisions that his sale was attacked.

Development of the area includes construction by the owner of roads to lots in the wooded area in the tract. Mr. Music said he will not offer lots again at auction but will sell to individuals as sites for vacation cottages, none of which may cost less than $1,500.

To Lead Revival At Baptist Church Through Next Week

Dr. Verlin C. Kruschwitz, pastor of the Severns Valley Baptist Church, Elizabethtown, Kentucky, will be the evangelist during the week of revival which will begin at Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church here with the morning worship service next Sunday. The revival will end with the evening service Saturday, October 2.

Dr. Kruschwitz, a past president of the Kentucky Baptist Convention, is a Bible scholar and outstanding preacher. He was one of a group of outstanding Kentucky pastors who came here, earlier in the year, and served as evangelists in simultaneous revival services at missions of the local Baptist Church.

Services will be held daily at 7 p.m. The choir and congregation will be led in singing by Gus Kalos, new director of music at the church and music instructor at the Prestonsburg Community College. The church nursery will be open, each evening, for the convenience of parents of younger children.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend each service.

He was a retired employee of United Fuel Gas Company. Surviving, besides his widow, Mrs. Viola Stumbo Allen, are one son, Joe K. Allen, and a daughter, Mrs. H. G. Lee, of Richmond, Kentucky. Mr. Allen also leaves four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 10 p.m. Monday from the Salisbury Regular Baptist Church, the Revs. Mack McCloud and Banner Manns officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery at Printer under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

CALL FOR WORKERS GETS BIG RESPONSE

600 APPLY IN 3 DAYS THIS WEEK

Training of Employees For Factory To Start Monday; Funds Raised

Floyd countians do want to work. That was proved here, the first three days of this week, when the Kentucky Employment Service received job applications from those who sought employment at the manufacturing plant scheduled to open locally, December 1.

Monday, 347 filed for employment. By 3 p.m. Tuesday, another 180 had applied. The total is expected to pass 600 when the Employment Service completes the three-day job receiving applications, Wednesday afternoon. By 8 o'clock Monday morning, a crowd of 300 or more was at the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad building here, on the second floor of which the Employment Service had set up temporary offices. A long queue of women and men formed at the entrance to the building as others were arriving. Some had been there since 7 a.m.

STREET TAX MEETING SET

Mayor Calls Session Next Tuesday; Council To Ask Bids on Pools

Discussion of reported inequities in tax assessments against property-owners here for the improvement of streets and sidewalks was a time-consuming part of last Thursday night's meeting of the City Council, and this week Mayor George P. Archer announced that all taxpayers who have questions about the amount of their tax assessments for this work should attend a meeting scheduled at the Municipal building next Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Engineers, accountants and attorneys will be present at the meeting to discuss questions which have arisen. (An official notice of the meeting appears elsewhere in this edition of The Times).

Resignations of Tom Graham Dingus, member of the Planning & Zoning Commission, and Harris S. Howard, as a member of the City Park Commission, were accepted. Blaine R. Hall was named to succeed Dingus, and Roy Ramey to take the place of Howard. Sam Henry Music resigned as assistant fire chief, and Doug Burke was appointed to fill the vacancy.

On recommendation of the Park Board the Council voted to ask bids on construction of a junior Olympic swimming pool and a small pool for very young children at the city park, an undertaking which will cost an estimated $37,000. The city has earned $26,000 for demolition of (See Story No. 7, Page 8)

Floyd SCD Chairman Honored

J. B. Clarke, center, newly designated Master Conservationist, with other SCD members. From left—Lloyd Wells, Billy Merritt, Mr. Clarke, H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., R. C. Barnett.

J. B. Clarke, of Prestonsburg, chairman of the Floyd County Soil Conservation District, was presented a Master Conservationist Award at the last SCD meeting here.

He received the award upon completion of 90% or more of all planned practices of his conservation basis plan. Mr. Clarke's farm, a beauty spot on the road from Lancer to Dewey Lake, comprises some 120 acres. This acreage is composed of 10 acres of hayland, 30 acres pastureland, 5 acres miscellaneous, 75 acres woodland.

His woodland is all protected from grazing of livestock and he practices good woodland management. On his pastureland he practices rational grazing of his 14 head of registered Angus cattle, which doesn't let him average his pastures. He also follows a good fertility program on both his pastureland and hayland. This past year, he renovated 10 acres of hayland and applied 500 pounds of fertilizer and two tons of lime per acre. Mr. Clark, who is a farmer before and after his hours in his law office here, developed his conservation basis plan in the fall of 1951.

GROUP IS BEFUDDLED BY SPEAKERS' VIEWS

All was not complete understanding and sweet accord at the Paintsville meeting Monday night of the Big Sandy Development Council which represents a six-county area. The situation developed from statements representing different phases of the federal program affecting what is known as Appalachia.

John Whisman, director of Kentucky Area Development, called this "the year of opportunity—the year of the last chance," and challenged the group to complete a comprehensive program, using all the help offered by the Office of Economic Opportunity, Appalachian Regional Act projects and the Economic Development Act. From his viewpoint transportation, education, industrial and natural resources development were emphasized.

On the other hand, Jack Ciacio, Washington, D. C., Community Action Program director, told the gathering of approximately 150 leaders from the six counties that the grant which the Big Sandy Development Council had received from OEO covered only those programs which are aimed directly at the poor and the "war on poverty" and does not include development of industry or natural resources. Ciacio explained that OEO programs must be aimed directly at anti-poverty objectives and cannot be programs which "indirectly aid the poor, such as physical and industrial development."

Most failed to understand that the talk was of attack on different fronts, and some expressed the belief that the stand by the OEO representative might disband the Development Council, which has functioned so well.

O. T. Dorton, Paintsville, former Council chairman, suggested that the Council remain as it is, continuing to work for overall development, and that a separate chairman and officers work within the Council as the Community Action group to handle the OEO phase of work.

Combs To Speak At Dinner Launching Drive For Funds For Retarded Children Work

Former Governor Bert T. Combs will be the speaker at the "kick-off" dinner to be sponsored Monday evening at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, by the Floyd County Council for Retarded Children as it launches its 1965 drive for funds. The dinner will be at 6 p.m.

Next day, Tuesday, Radio Station WPRT will begin its eighth annual radio auction, a major means of raising funds to continue the work of educating and training retarded children.

The Council was organized in 1954, and it is maintaining three classes in the county—two trainable and one educable class at Martin and a trainable class here. Most of the children are transported to class by taxicabs operating out of Martin and Prestonsburg. The County Board of Education affords help with the educable group, the Council providing only materials used and part of the transportation costs. But the total expense of maintaining classes for the trainable, including transportation, teachers' salaries and other costs, is borne by the Council.

The Council budget is in excess of $8,000 a year, and that budget, it is explained, is not sufficient to meet all needs or to reach all children needing the help. The part to an emotional disturbance, and that he could be taught. Now the boy stands erect, can recognize and write 21 words, plays ball quite well with other youngsters and literally talks "a blue streak."

Then there was the girl of 14 who, Mrs. Begley says, "is so anxious to learn," and cries when she misses a day at school. She has learned to crochet well in the few weeks of classes.
These are only two of the 10 children who at one time or another have been in class. All are human beings who are no longer forgotten by all except their own families. All are finding that they're loved, and they're thriving under the treatment.
"Much better behaved children than normal youngsters," say those who have worked with them this summer. "They need our help, and we need the help of other people in this work, particularly the help women can give."
The class for retarded children is for all the county, and only those problems such as transportation, together with a reluctance on the part of some parents to enter their children for training, are holding the number of pupils as low as it is.
Under present Kentucky school law, superintendent Turner explains, funds are not available to care for these handicapped children, although they are included in the school census and per capita funds are collected on each of them. All present law provides for a school with a teacher or teachers to be available to all. But the retarded need special care and attention, so the ordinary schoolroom benefits them none.
If and when the minimum foundation program is implemented, special teachers, transportation equipment—all these will be supplied the retarded, he explained.
Till then, however, it will be a tough row to hoe—as these Floyd folks already have learned.

stand the bird upright. When he held it by the neck, the legs wobbled and collapsed; when he held the wings, the head fell forward. The bird hadn't done this particular owl any good.

Just at this moment the little guy with the sliding spectacles roused himself, staggered to his feet and came forward to see about the commotion. But his legs folded on him. He sat down rather heavily, and his head fell limply onto his chest.

And so—you guessed it! Somebody in the crowd took a peek at the owl, then back to the little guy, and remarked, "He's drunk as a b'iled owl."

(After that one, Trout can have these knotty problems.)

This fellow was doing what he was best at—bragging. "This car of mine," he declared, "will do 150 miles an hour, and stop on a dime."

"Then what happens after that?" inquired an unimpressed listener.

RIGHT AUTHOR, WRONG TITLE

Lest Mrs. Town Hall think I've flipped and haven't discovered it, I hasten to amend my statement in this column last week to the effect that she had been kind enough to give me a copy of Mrs. Southworth's "Self-Raised." It wasn't that particular volume, even if I did have my mind so firmly fixed on it that I said it was. It was "The Changed Bride."

I'm reading it, and I still say the Southworth gal could write a good story, even if the style is a bit stilted according to modern standards.

THE FUGITIVE

If you see me toddling off down the street, glancing back over my shoulder every few steps, don't look for the posse in pursuit. I am not being hounded—just dogged. Those hurried glances to the rear are to see if I have managed to slip away from my shadow, the Dalmatian.

she first testified. It was said that 11 of the jury voted for acquittal. The case was set down for retrial November 15.

Charges of poaching and resisting arrest were dismissed against James Sherman, and by agreement he was fined $300 and given a jail term of six months for shooting at Conservation Officer Don Meade without wounding. Judge Conley indicated probation of the jail sentence is likely if Sherman has no previous record.

In other convictions of the week the Left Beaver Coal Co., Inc. and/or the Ligon Preparation Co., Inc. was fined $100 and costs on a plea of guilty to pollution of a stream, and Harold Lloyd Moore was given a one-year pen term for child desertion.

Kenneth Ray Isaacs, who was indicted jointly with Luther Paige on a charge of knowingly receiving stolen property, was given trial in absentia and was acquitted. On motion of the Commonwealth his $500 bond was forfeited. Not guilty verdicts were also given in the cases of John Roy Wireman, assault and battery, and Carmel Osborne, obtaining money under false pretense.

The $1,000 bond of Namon Sammons, indicted on a cold check charge, was forfeited. These cases were dismissed:

Frank L. Jones, breaking and entering and grand larceny, lack of prosecution; Russell Stone, receiving stolen property and grand larceny, lack of prosecution; Sterling Hamilton, destroying the property of another.

Fines of $10 each were levied on Fred Conn and Dollie Nickles for contempt of court.

HALL-MARCY VOWS SAID

The Grethel Baptist Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Dolores Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shadrick Hall, of Grethel, to Mr. Timothy P. Marcy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Marcy, of Northfield, Massachusetts.

The Rev. Carl Nuss, pastor of the church, performed the double-ring ceremony at 2 p.m., August 21. A bouquet of red roses and the glow of candles from the candelabra decorated with white gladioli added beauty to the ceremony.

Mrs. Eileen Martin presented a program of wedding music. Soloists were Mrs. Lois Clark and the Rev. Bill Patterson.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white gown of lace, designed with a floor-length full skirt, with a lace ruffle train. The bodice was fashioned with a scalloped neckline trimmed with sequins and pearls, with long, tapered sleeves. Her elbow-length veil was secured with a sequin-trimmed band. She carried a bouquet of white roses and rosebuds trimmed with silver maple leaves and dainty pearls. White rosebuds were tied at the end of the streamers.

Mrs. Shirley Hall, of Lorain,

Ohio, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Ida Marcy, of Northfield, Massachusetts, sister of the groom, was a bridesmaid. Mrs. Hall wore a street-length yellow nylon and taffeta dress with a rounded neckline. Miss Marcy wore a street-length pink nylon and taffeta dress with a full skirt. Each wore matching headpieces and carried a cut rose matching the color of her dress.

Robert Gower, of Hagerstown, Maryland, was best man for his brother-in-law. Usher duties were performed by Bill Hall, of Lorain, Ohio, and Kelly Hall, of Grethel, both brothers of the bride.

Kelly Hall, of Lorain, Ohio, was ringbearer.

A reception was held at the bride's home immediately following the ceremony. Assisting were Mrs. Eileen Martin, of Grethel, Imogene Kidd, of Grethel, and Mrs. Henrietta Yoder, of Columbus, Ohio.

The bride is a graduate of Middlesex Valley central high school, Rushville, New York. Both attended Practical Bible Training School, of Binghamton, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcy are now residing in Turner's Falls, Massachusetts, after a short honeymoon.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY VOTES ADMINISTRATION TAX BILL

The General Assembly adjourned sine die last week after enacting the tax bill proposed by the Administration.

House Bill I, designed to protect the taxpayer as well as provide needed funds for hard-pressed school districts in view of the Appellate Court order for reassessment of property at 100% value, was passed by both houses and signed into law by governor Breathitt.

The bill reduces tax rates in proportion to the increase in assessment ordered by the court last June 8. It also permits a half-percent increase in the occupational tax in Louisville and Jefferson county for the benefit of city and county schools. Nonresidents would be exempt from the school levy, according to the bill's provisions.

The House passed the governor's property tax bill September 3 by a vote of 64-31. On September 14 the Senate approved the measure, 23-12.

Charges of illegal action were leveled at proponents of the bill in the Senate by Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield, the presiding officer, and minority coalition of Democratic and Republican senators aligned with him against the prevailing pro-Breathitt bloc of Democrats and five Republicans.

Waterfield contended that sessions held by the pro-Breathitt group on September 8 and 10 to advance the bill's passage were illegal and at one time threatened court action. Leaders of the pro-Breathitt bloc called the two sessions legal and the attorney general's office held likewise.

Because the second home uses an electric heat pump for year-round cooling and heating. The other uses an old-fashioned flame-type heating method.

An electric heat pump is the modern way to "comfort-condition" a home. Keeps it comfortably cool in summer, soothingly warm in winter. You just set the dial. That's all there is to it. The temperature stays the way you want it... all the time.

You can be sure of the dependable quality of an electric heat pump. Your actual cooling and heating costs can be calculated in advance, too. No wonder an electric heat pump increases the value of any home. Check with us today for all the facts... then put "eternal springtime" in your home.

KHA Recommends Diet For Proper Heart Care

Don't eat your heart out! That's just another way of saying, according to the Kentucky Heart Association, that your eating habits may well decide whether or not you have a healthy heart.

The following five-point program of dietary control has been recommended by KHA as a possible means of lowering the risks of heart attacks: 1. Eat less animal (saturated) fat; 2. As substitutes, use vegetable oils and other polyunsaturated fats whenever possible; 3. Eat less food that is rich in cholesterol; 4. If over weight, consume fewer calories; 5. Let your doctor decide what your diet should be, and then stick to it until he advises a change.

It may be a little late in life for some adults to take full advantage of these suggestions, although it is "better late than never" for those who need to adjust their present eating habits to assure a longer and healthier life; however, young adults, especially young parents, not only can derive great personal benefit themselves from a well adjusted diet, they also can guide their children along the proper dietary path. Getting the right start at an early age is half the battle.

As medical research scientists probe further and further into the causes of heart disease, they are becoming increasingly convinced that proper diet control may likely retard, or contribute to the prevention of, coronary heart disease.

Many of them are now emphasizing for the first time "the benefit to be derived from lifelong adherence, beginning in childhood, to a dietary pattern" based on the five basic points listed above by the Heart Association officials.

Studies of population groups in the U. S. and elsewhere by these research scientists seem to show a definite relationship between the level of cholesterol and other fats in the blood and the incidence of coronary heart disease. They report that populations with low blood fat levels have a lower incidence of coronary heart disease than populations with higher levels. There has been demonstrated, too, that there is a relationship between the contents of a person's regular diet and the concentration of fats in his blood.

Finally, the Heart Association reemphasizes point 5: Your doctor is the one person best equipped to decide what kind of diet you should follow. Consult him. Don't be a "do it yourself" dieter.

$176 Million Ky. Bond Issue; Endorsement 428th Received

The Prestonsburg Community College has gone on record in support of Kentucky's $176 million bond issue to be on the November ballot, it was announced last week by the Kentucky Better Roads Council, Lexington.

Approval of the program by the college was the 428th endorsement of the issue to be received by the Council from groups in all sections of the Commonwealth.

It was pointed out that Ohio in 17 months had approved a total of $1.4 billion in bonds to finance highways, capital construction at its colleges and universities and a program of park and tourism development. Also cited was the fact that the bond issue will not require additional taxes to retire the bonds. Highway revenues increase at the average of $5 million each year and from that annual increase the funds will be repaid. The entire bond issue, the endorsement said, will bring Kentucky a total of $860 million in federal funds and other sources.

Approval of the program by the college was the 428th endorsement of the issue to be received by the Council from groups in all sections of the Commonwealth.

HOME EC DEPARTMENT CONTRIBUTES TO SHOW

Langley, Ky.—At the Maytown fall flower show which was held Sunday, September 19 on the Maytown high school campus, visitors were particularly impressed with the displays of the Home Economics Department. Mrs. Joyce Stewart, instructor, and her pupils contributed artificial flower arrangements and table settings. These displays are a result of a teaching unit.

Trying to achieve line, balance, color harmony and originality, the pupils use artificial flowers, since most are transported by bus. However, the use of fresh flowers is stressed.

The following entries were awarded ribbons:

VERTICAL — Blue: Marina Meadows, Linda Meadows, Veneta Patton, Sadie Nolan, Betty Lou McGarey and Pam Hicks; red: Phyllis Thornsby, Clara Turner; white: Gail Osborne.
MASS — Blue: Juanita Boyd; white: Clara Sturgill.
CRESCENT — Red: Debbie Hicks, Carolyn Ellis, Lillie Branham, Ruby Howell; white: Wanda Garrison, Rose Harmon.

SIDE TRIANGLE—Blue: Linda Prater and Rebecca Bailey; red: Sherry Amburgy and Patricia Patton.

FULL TRIANGLE—Blue: Elda Mae Black and Judy Ratliff.

COLOR COMBINATION—Blue: Linda Castle; white: Linda Webb.

HOGART — Blue: Kay Layne and Kathryn Garrison.

ORIGINALITY — Blue: Wanda Garrison, Libby Gibson and Janet Cooley.

The Senior Home Economics pupils worked together to display nine table settings which included two formal dinners, three luncheons, two breakfasts and two special occasions tables. Four blue ribbons, two red ribbons and one white ribbon were awarded the group.

The Maytown Woman's Club recognizes the effort and cooperation of Mrs. Joyce Stewart and her pupils who contribute so willingly to the annual flower show.
